DAVID BECKHAM | MIDFIELDER

EDSON BUDDLE
#14 FORWARD

Currently enjoying a career year, Buddle scored LA's only goal in the 4-1 loss at D.C. on June 29. That goal was his 10th on the season and he has continued to add to that account ever since, including grabbing the game-tying goal in the Galaxy's 2-2 draw with Real Salt Lake their last time out at The Home Depot Center. Buddle has been dangerous all over the field this season, showing the ability to score with his left foot, his right foot and his head, while also tallying goals from both inside and outside the box. He is the only player to record more than one hat trick in MLS this season and a third one tonight could see him shoot straight back to the top of the MLS scoring charts alongside fellow Galaxy forward Landon Donovan.

#11 FORWARD

D.C. United's top scorer this season, the reigning MLS MVP was a thorn in the Galaxy's side the first time these two met at RFK Stadium on June 29. Emilio had two goals and an assist in that game while also having a goal called back for offsides. He leads United with 11 goals on the year and added three more in the U.S. Open Cup, including one in the Open Cup Final win over Charleston earlier this month. However, he had to exit that game with a groin strain that has limited him over the past few weeks. If he is back at full strength tonight, he will need to be marked tightly throughout by the Galaxy defense.

FUN FACT! Get to Know: David Beckham, Midfielder, LA Galaxy

Playing his first game back at The Home Depot Center in more than two months, David Beckham will be looking to put on a show in front of the home fans tonight. He has played nearly every minute for the game's that he has been eligible for this season and the Galaxy captain could provide the impetus behind the club's push for a postseason berth. He has a goal and an assist in his last two home matches and will be looking to add to those totals tonight, as well as exacting some revenge on D.C. United, the club that Beckham made his MLS debut against last season and against whom he scored his first goal for the club, a freekick in the SuperLiga semifinals last August.

MLS Cup 2008 will be held at The Home Depot Center on Sunday, November 23 @ 12pm
